Being a conscientious and proper young lady, Constance sat ______ in -the back of the room listening to the fiery speech of the ______(s) who were speaking that evening. She couldn't believe that she was going to be able to hear Frederick Douglass speak. The current speaker was railing about the many ______(s) that -the colored people rightfully had against the men and women who received all of the ______ from their labor and even the sale of their very persons. The _______ speaker continued despite the obvious grumblings from some in the audience who were not at all happy with his words. However, Constance didn't hear the complaints and muttered threats as she sat ______ by the words of the eloquent speaker. For her, it was an amazing experience.
